

benjamin lemar

systems-minded conceptual designer — brand & experience · tokyo

benjaminleamar@gmail.com

futuresupersonic.github.io

Concept comes first — then systems make it real, and experience is what's left with the person at the end.

The output changes shape; the work underneath doesn't. Trained in industrial design and strategic innovation, I've spent 17 years aiming that systems-and-concept thinking at brand and experience for global and local clients, in and out of corporations, in Japan.

I do my sharpest work where the idea is still being decided, not only where it's made.

experience

career record

conceptual designer

Marks Co. - Propellis Group (formorally SGK) — Tokyo

2022 - present

current

Concept and design direction across brand, identity, experience, and digital for major Japanese and global brands. Translate research and market insight into sharp, sellable directions — owning the idea and the system behind it, and supporting downstream execution without owning final production.

founder • design director

2015 - 2022

studio

Future Command Design Office — Hiroshima /Tokyo

My own studio. Identity, packaging, digital, and brand systems for businesses and brands, including regional work translating Western visual sensibility into Japanese tourism programs. Closed on joining the agency in 2022.

art director • designer

2021 - 2022

freelance

Sabukaru Online / Bianco Bianco Tokyo - Tokyo

Art direction, content design, and visual communication for a culture-focused online magazine running as a PR engine for agency clients — On Running, Snipes, Adidas DE, neronero, Innersect, and others, around new product releases.

environmental graphic designer

2016 - 2017

past

Kent Japan - Hiroshima

Signage and wayfinding systems — research, design, and construction documentation for hospitals, schools, logistics centers, and local businesses.

2009 - 2015

Hiroshima • concurrent practice

client liaison - IC4 DESIGN

Liaison and research development on the "Pierre The Maze Detective" series for one of Japan's leading illustration studios; credited. Also liaison on National Train Day Campaigning for Amtrak USA.

past

design partner - Smart Laboratory

Built and led a small design team for a local business consultancy, advising start-ups through design thinking and creative direction.

past

independent designer

Branding, product, and UX/UI work for domestic and international clients — research, strategy, illustration, and conceptual development.

freelance

english instructor • english school owner

Built curricula and taught across hospitality, medical, and university levels; ran all aspects of an independent language program.

past

education

OCAD University B.Des [Hons] Industrial Design 2004 - 2008

Rotman MBA DesignWorks Practicum Partnership 2007 - 2008

Humber College Industrial Design for Automotive 2002 - 2004

Humber College Design Foundations 2001 - 2002

languages

visa

English

永住権有り

日本語

Permanent Resident

recognition

広島ADC Package Design, Honourable Mention
Published - HADC Annual 2018

Hiroshima TV TSS - Ikitagari-no 4 Episodes including Finale 広島TSS番組行きたがりーノ

Pierre The Maze Detective Series credited contributor